

Health and Hygiene

§112.32 Hygiene

Personnel who work with covered produce must use hygienic practices to prevent contamination.

Workers must maintain personal cleanliness, wear clean clothes, take daily showers, and have clean and trimmed fingernails.

Workers must avoid contact with animals.

Workers must wash hands thoroughly before touching produce or food-contact surfaces.

Workers must remove jewelry that cannot be cleaned and sanitized.

Workers must not eat, chew gum, or use tobacco products while near covered produce.

Workers should not wear loose clothing.

Workers must not handle produce when ill.

Workers can bring potential sources of contamination from home such as clothes, cars, cell phones, pockets, keys and jewelry.
